“ My heartfelt sympathy goes out to Cynthia's husband, her children, grands and her whole family.

I met Cynthia in the 7th grade. She had a beautiful smile and she had a great sense of humor.

She will be greatly missed, but remember she's in a better place.

“ Thomas,
My prayers are with you and your family. I have many great memories of my years growing up and going to school with Cynthia. I was at church the day she accepted Christ into her life. The best decision of her entire life. I plan on seeing her again in heaven.

“ My prayers are with the family during this difficult time. It is hard to say goodbye to our loved one, but knowing that she is saved and served her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, that her spirit is at rest in a much better place. You are in our prayers. I remember Cynthia when I worked at Michigan Bell and first came to Saginaw. She always had a smile and a cute laugh. She will be missed, but her memory will remain in the hearts of all her knew and loved her.

“ There is an art to living. How we manage our joys and pains, our loves and losses give meaning and dimension to our lives.

Like each of us, being fully human, Cynthia fashioned her life in the best way she could?given the raw material available to her. And when those things were not enough, she developed a relationship with God and learned to walk by faith.

Cynthia loved God and her family?both nuclear and extended, and was tickled to share news about a new birth, or about some cute or precocious thing a member of the younger generations had said or done.

She was a better sleuth than agents of the CIA ? tracking down every Jones and Matchicote relative, every Bonner and Barnes?and all of their kith and kin?that she could find. Cynthia cherished family ties. She cherished friendship. She had an extraordinary ability to pick up on dormant relationships without skipping a beat, regardless of how much time had passed.

We will remember her special qualities?her dimensions:

*Cynthia was weak and strong; simple and complicated;
Laughed deeply and often; smiled beautifully;
Cooked expertly, often sticking her finger in a dish to give it ?soul.?*

*Cynthia listened carefully, talked exuberantly; she could find humor in adversity;
She gardened, canned, preserved and crafted enthusiastically.*

Cynthia made friends easily; she helped people selflessly, shopped relentlessly ? and even when over budget, was able to characterize her purchases as ?such a bargain!?

Life, being life, knocked her down many times. Each time she stood up again?and grew in her relationship with God and her church.

Cynthia was a people person.

We will remember, rejoice and be grateful to God for His gift of Cynthia to all of us. She gave dimension to our lives.
