“ Dear Gina & Crissy,
I know that things are not easy right now but with the help of the Lord you both will make it through. Just keep on praying and everything will be all right.

God Bless You Both,
Love,
Yolanda

“ It is with deep sorrow that I type these lines. The last time I saw you Larry, you seemed to be on top of the world! I am really saddened. To your parents, as well as, your siblings, being a God fearing family, we know you are in a better place. Be that as it may, you are at this moment missed. You were a little bit older than me growing up, but I can still remember laughing with you, even back then. Peace and love to you, even as you have begun your next journey. We never seem to say we love each other enough. If anything can be taken from your passing, it is to love one another more completely. Not only with words, but with actions.

Until I see you again,
