“ I feel as though I am going to burst inside because I cannot describe the pain that I feel inside my heart because you are no longer with me; but, at the same time, I feel joy. Joy because we're blessed that you have left us all with 100 years for loving memories and now you can rest peacefully while looking down on us. You've given each of us a unique experience and you will always be in our hearts to guide us.

I Love You Grandma,

“ Alonzo and Aaron, you and your families are in our thoughts and prayers. My daughter and I had the pleasure of meeting your grandmother on several occasions and we both agreed that she was a delightful woman that embodied wisdom and grace. This is indeed a celebration of life for a woman who was blessed by God to receive a rich, full long life. Hessie McBride indeed leaves a wonderful memory for all who were privileged to meet and know her, but most of all she's left a godly inheritance for her children and her children's children. May God continue to keep and bless you.
