“ I am so sorry to see that this has happened. James was a funny guy and I will miss him coming into the VA and telling me how he had stopped drinking. He was so embarrassed that he had gotten so out of sorts that he needed help getting home, even though he was about 5 blocks away. Between him and my dog and his bicycle, it took me about half an hour to get him there. We have had a good laugh about that since then.
My blessings to his family.
