“ To the Longuemire family,
May God give you peace that you won't understand, in your time of sorrow. You all loved John, but God loves him best. Now, he is with God away from all the madness of this world. Keep your heads up and look to the hills from whence cometh your help. Lean on God and your family. My prayers are with you all.

“ To Sister Longuemire, Darren & Ladena,
This note is to let you know that God is able to keep you in times like this. There is no need for you to worry or fret because nothing God does is unmerited. He is just and faithful to those of us who has named Him as our Lord and Savior. Keep the faith and hold your heads up high for your Redeemer draws nigh. You will see him again in that great bye and bye. You did all you could, be grateful. May God continue to smile upon you and may you find comfort in knowing that Brother John is only sleeping for a while and when the Lord shall sound that trumpet he will rise and you shall meet again in that place called heaven. You can shout now for his suffering is over and he is resting at Jesus' feet in peace.

Love all of you and I will certainly keep you in my prayers.

Love,
Sis. Jiles & family
