“ Cassandra, Felicia, and Stephanie

We praise God for the life of Kelly. He was an extension of a father to me because my daddy died when I was nine years old. Your father lived with us when I was a little girl before any of you were born. I knew him like I knew Uncle Joe and Uncle Bill and Uncle James.

"Look to the hills from whence comes our help". I had been trying to get in contact with Kelly for several years, but I was not successful.

He sent me a picture of him and it sits on my bombay chest. The fond memories of him make me not so sad...

In our last conversation, he was witnessing of his life with Jesus. I never thought that that would be our last conversation, but it was a joy to know that he knew God and he was serious about his relationship with the Great Almighty. Truly God is our refuge, our strongtower. In HIM we have our being. "To Thine Be The Glory"
