“ Rod,

You were the quiet to my storm. When I would overreact you always would tell me to calm down and everything will be alright. And yes, you were always right. The thirty years I spent with you passed by like lightning in the sky. Going on without you seems unfathomable. I want to see you again so desperately, but I know that is intangible. Why must I keep wanting things that are not have-able? With whom will I laugh with and crack jokes with daily? I haven't been able to truly smile or laugh wholeheartedly since you went away. I don't know if I ever will again; at least not in that way. You brought a lot of joy to my life and we always laughed every time I saw you...every single time. Nobody could make me laugh like that but you. Without you here nothing is funny; I'm bewildered and I feel a void in my soul I can't even begin to explain; even in a room full of people I'm lonely. We would text each other back and forth all day joking and quoting our favorite movies. We shared the same sense of humor and laughed at things others wouldn't necessarily find funny. Our bond was one that can never be duplicated. You were more than my brother you were my best friend. A selfish part of me feels sorry for myself because no one will ever love me like that again. You were not a perfect person, but you were a beautiful person. Everyone that knew you loved you. You were the one person I could never stay mad at and you know I don't mind falling out with nobody. If we had a disagreement (which we sometimes did) we would make up within a couple of days and resume our jokes and laughs like nothing ever happened. When I needed you; you were always there for me and you never told me no. I was always up to something and you always came to my rescue. I could never thank you enough for saving me from myself. I can't believe we let time get away and never got a chance to do all of the things we planned to do in the future. I will never understand why you were taken so suddenly without warning. I'm grateful to God for the times we did share...the umpteen cookouts, fish fries, birthday parties and even just eating dinner around the table. Everyday thoughts of you sit heavy on my mind. I'll hold on to the good times. I loved you like no other you were my right hand..my big brother.

“ Big Rod,

The Lord must need you to call you so sudden. You were the only one who knew uncle Butch's recipe inside out. He called you for your help to prepare the wedding supper of the lamb. "Blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the Lamb" (Rev 19:9) Time is short! I know where you are, and I have peace in my heart When the time will come if by death or by rapture I will see you again, with Shawnyelle and everyone else, and we will be together forever:)

“ Ms. Lou, Sandy, Omer and to Rodney's extended family, I send my condolences and love to you. Please know that I pray for you every day. My first introduction to Rodney was many years ago (he probably was 18 or so) and my brother, Butch, had asked him to pick me up in Lansing and bring me to Saginaw. Well, Rodney turned a corner too fast and there we go.....off into a ditch! I remember a young man who was such a humble soul. I am glad that, even though our paths did not cross often, I am one that got a chance to share a few times with him. We will never understand why he left us so soon but please know that God does not make mistakes and He cannot lie. His Word tells us "to be absent from the body, is to be present with the Lord." Rest that your loved one is in good hands. If there is anything I can do or if you need to pray or just talk, please call me at 517-897-5764.

“ Sending sweet words of comfort and encouragement to the family of Rodney and keeping the family in prayers. Met him several years ago through my dear friend/his sister Vonbon and he was a great person. May God continue to Bless all you.

Condolences to the family..Rodney will so be missed. When we came to visit Saginaw, he was the first person Charlie would rush to see and he was the last person Charlie would see before we left. Love and miss you, Rodney, May you rest in peace. Charles and Shelia Weaver
