“ to the family, it was sad that fatdaddy had to go the way he did, but he is in a better place now where he don't have to worry about a thing, he's free of all life problems. no one never know how long they'll be around so always try to be the best that you can be and enjoy life while you can. The violence has taking over ever time you turn around some one is losing a love one over nothing that's not the way it should be as of right now in the loving memories of ROY LEE BLAIR let's start loving each other we have no room for hate in our lives let's get it together and bring back the Love,Peace, and Happiness. Prina I know times has been rough for you lately but keep your head up and keep the faith the Lord will make away. May God Bless everyone

STOP THE VIOLENCE!

“ A norther young man has been called home. Who was a farther, brother, and a friend who will always be remebered in are hearts. To the family and friends, stay strong keep your head's up and if you want to cry it's okay!! Roy's in a better place with his mother,and the LORD!!

Alicia Irvin (Rockie) - December 10, 2005 at 12:00 AM

“ To the Family & Friends of Roy Blair
(Fat Daddy)
May God guide you in your time of sorrow.
It is very sad that this young man wont see another tomorrow.
It seems unfair that he is not here but it was time to go home.
When you think of him smile in his memory for he is not alone.
He is with our father & his mother watching us as we live out our days.
Praying for his earthly friends hoping they change there ways.
We all go through trials & tribulations thats what makes us stronger.
I would like to say to the young people Honor your mother & father be a friend to each other and your days on earth will be longer.
