“ Both Roy & I retired many years ago, after working together at General Motors in the Plant Protection/Security Department. Even though we lived far apart, we remained friends and have stayed in contact since retirement. Roy was devoted to his lovely wife and remained so with his constant care during her long illness prior to her death a little over a year ago. Roy was the type of person that "Always" wanted others around him, friends and strangers alike to be happy. If you were near him, he likely told you at least two or three jokes because he wanted you to smile and to be happy. Roy is now with the Lord and I'm sure has told Him about the 3 guys that walked into a bar. May God bless you Roy.
