“ To my loving Dad, whom I appreciate and respected to the utmost.

Dad, you taught me the values of being a man you gave me so many qualities that I truly appreciate.

Noone truly knew your sense of humor, but it shined through with that gentle smile. I always will remember your caring hugs that my siblings and myself could always count on.

You also taught me the importance of family bond ... I'll always remember your "pet peeve" .. when we were kids and we would fuss with each other your words would be "cut it out ... ya'all each other got .. YOU'RE FAMILY!"

It really hasn't sunk in that you are gone from us, sometimes we just count on someone being there forever. I know that there will be days ahead that will seem unbearable with out you. It's those times that I hope you are there watching over me, it's those times that I'll be thinking back to those wonderful hugs.

Rest in peace "old goat" and give mom a kiss for me..

I love you forever,

Your son,

Calvin

“ My dearest father-in-law,

I hope you knew how bless I feel to have you as part of my life. I truly enjoyed the times we shared and I will always cherish the memories of those special moments.

I thank you most of all for your oldest son. Calvin is an incredible husband and father and I am thankful to you for guiding him to be the hardworking family man that he is. Thank you for teaching him to drive a semi truck, he has taken that skill and he has utilized it to make an honest life. He even loves doing it almost as much as you did!

Thank you for being such a loving and caring grand-dad to Areiana. She has always loved and adored you and I promise that I will always help her keep your memory alive.

You were a fighter "Pops", throughout your life and all the way through to those last precious moments.

I pray that when you reached heaven's gates, you were greeted with open arms by your loving wife Louise, as well as the many other loved ones that preceded you.

I too will see you again some day, we will dance on streets of gold, and sing alittle "Down Home Blues". Until then, rest in peace and always know how truly loved and missed you will be ..

Love,

Trudy

“ A Fathers Prayer

This is not a prayer for me but for the hearts of my family that love me so dear. You see their needs as I can not you hear their prayers as I know not, you feel their tears upon your cheek please hold them as I rest and go to sleep. No man can love them as I do, but only you can lift their heads and hold them high I go. Strengthen them when they are weak and put peace in the place of their fears. Hold them close in your embrace all though I can not touch or wipe the tears from their face. Now I am gone let me rest my soul is at peace not distress. If you need me I'll be near with all of my love soft and clear, presence so strong you will know I'm around. Understand now I see no fear my soul is at peace you all know I was there. When you must take this journey all alone I will be there to greet you with my wifes hand in mine. We will embrace until your welcome home.
