“ I am very sorry to hear of your loss and I thought of a scripture in God's Word the bible found at John 5:28,29. It says in part," Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life. I hope you find this just as comforting as I did in times of mourning.

“ Allen Family;

From the beginning of time there are things that our Creator has kept secret from us, things we cannot comprehend. For now, we see things imperfectly as if in a rose-colored mirror. But a day IS coming when God will wipe away all tears from our eyes and we will be able to see everything completely.

Take comfort in knowing, God gives more grace when the burdens grow greater. His love has no limits, His grace has no measure, and His power has no boundary.

*I was only four and Calvin was five when we moved next door to you. We were two little kids who had already lost our dad and you stepped in and took us under your wings. You never turned your back on our family and you continued to be a dad to Calvin in spite of all his adult challenges. I will never forget how you always use to say "come on in and have some food". You will always hold a special place in my heart.
